Snorkeling is the practice of swimming at the surface of a body of water while equipped with a diving mask, a shaped tube called a snorkel, and usually swimfins to observe underwater attractions for extended periods of time with relatively little effort.

The most common places to do this activity are warm tropical waters, as the Caribbean, the Coral Sea, the Red Sea or even the Canary Islands.

The primary attraction of snorkeling is the opportunity to observe underwater life in a natural setting: coral reefs, fish, cephalopods, starfish, sea urchins, mollusks, jellyfish, shrimps, sea turtles, various types of sea cactus.

Snorkeling is easy, it doesn’t require especial training, you only have to swim and to breathe through the snorkel, which is a plastic tube about thirty centimeters, usually J-shaped, fitted with a mouthpiece. Normally, it’s only necessary instruction about equipment usage and basic safety.
It’s not an expensive activity: diving mask, snorkel and swimfins are a cheap equipment, you just need to be able to reach the sea. And it’s ideal to practice as a family activity or with friends.

For all these reasons, I’d like very much to practice snorkeling because I’m very fond of swimming and I want to observe underwater life and see shellfish and the other animals that live in our coasts.

Where did you miss the point??? This is not supposed to be a descriptive essay, but AN OPINION WRITING!!! I’m afraid all this work is good for nothing and you will have to do it again. This time use your own words and not just COPY AND PASTE
